Latinos In Action Is Evaluation Ready

The Annie E. Casey Foundation invested in Latinos In Action as part of its expanding evidence portfolio. Expanding evidence supports programs developed by leaders of color, for communities of color. Organizations receive technical assistance and foundation support to build evaluation capacity.

Being evaluation ready means a program has the knowledge, skills, and practices to test the effectiveness of its services. The future foundation has critical evaluation building blocks in place:

- A fully articulated logic model that shows the pathways between services and expected outcomes.
- Fidelity tools to measure performance and determine whether services are delivered as intended.
- Experience with rigorous external evaluation.

STUDENT TESTIMONIAL

I believe Latinos In Action will help me achieve my goals and dreams. As a result, I am more motivated than ever to be the best student and leader I can be.”

LIA Course Description

Latinos In Action is a class that empowers Latino youth to be college and career ready through service, leadership, culture, and excellence in education.

In this course, LIA students:

What value does LIA bring to my school?

Our mission statement is “Empowering Latino youth to lead and strengthen their communities through college and career readiness”. The following slides include a brief summary of the value we are committed to bringing to your school:

The LIA Model

An unparalleled, asset-based approach to engaging Latino youth and preparing them for college and careers while helping them develop skills to become contributing citizens. The LIA model involves four key essentials: a unique student composition, tutoring at a neighboring elementary school, hands on leadership experience in the class, and LIA's college and career readiness curriculum.

College and Career Readiness Curriculum

Designed especially for your students, while providing flexibility for teachers to customize the experience based on local needs. This curriculum contains 13 research-based units that infuse culturally-responsive best practices and Social Emotional Learning.

Regional Program Manager

To support growth in your area, the Regional Program Manager (RPM) serves as your representative from LIA and provides support to maintain program fidelity. Your RPM works closely with your teacher throughout the school year, provides New Teacher Orientation training, and visits the LIA classroom through the year.

Annual Educator Institute*

Held at a local venue during the summer, this engaging training prepares LIA teachers with all the tools they need to teach and lead their classrooms during the school year.

When available in your area.*

Student Conferences*

These one-day conferences are held at local universities, where students participate in college and career-readiness workshops and celebrate their achievements and culture.

When available in your area*

Tutoring Partnership

Established with a local elementary school, the RPM assists and monitors the relationship to ensure success for all involved.

Masterminds

In Masterminds, the LIA class presidency or leadership team from multiple nearby schools meets several times a year to share their goals. As each school presents their goal, peers from other schools begin to brainstorm with that school and offer support which will enable them to better accomplish the goal.

Leadership Boot Camp*

Professional training for 2-5 student leaders per LIA class, held during summer break. This trains your students in the skills they will need to lead their peers during the upcoming school year.

When available in your area.*
